Nevada War Claims.

The following letter speaks for itself:

JAN. 13, 1895.

JAMES D. ROBERTS, Carson City Nev.

MY DEAR SIR:—Your letter of some days since was received and duly noted at the time. After an investigation of the status of the claims it looks like an impossibility to get them through at this session when unanimous consent is required for private bills in order to have them called up at all. An earnest endeavor will be made to get them early before the 54th Congress when favorable action may be reasonably hoped for.

Sincerely yours,
FRANCIS G. NEWLANDS.

Handwriting all Right Then.

The editor of the Walker Lake Bulletin is again criticising our chiography.

Some years ago when we wrote Senator Westerfield a letter to go security for the press, now used by the Bulletin to print its sheet on, our handwriting was not criticised. It was sufficiently legible to enable the Bulletin to get the press.

We had forgotten all about the circumstances until a few months ago, when Mr. Westerfield remarked incidentally that he was still looking toward Walker Lake for a remittance.
